DETAILED ACTION

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 112

The following is a quotation of the second paragraph of 35 U.S.C. 112:

The specification shall conclude with one or more claims particularly pointing out and distinctly claiming the subject matter which the applicant regards as his invention.

Claims 12-23 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 112, second paragraph, as being indefinite for failing to particularly point out and distinctly claim the subject matter which applicant regards as the invention.

Claims 12-18 provides for the use of a pressure fuel system, but, since the claim does not set forth any steps involved in the method/process, it is unclear what method/process applicant is intending to encompass. A claim is indefinite where it merely recites a use without any active, positive steps delimiting how this use is actually practiced.

Claims 12-18 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 101 because the claimed recitation of a use, without setting forth any steps involved in the process, results in an improper definition of a process, i.e., results in a claim which is not a proper process claim under 35 U.S.C. 101. See for example Ex parte Dunki, 153 USPQ 678 (Bd.App. 1967) and Clinical Products, Ltd. v. Brenner, 255 F. Supp. 131, 149 USPQ 475 (D.D.C. 1966).

Applicant is reminded to see MPEP 2173.05(q);

Attempts to claim a process without setting forth any steps involved in the process generally raises an issue of indefiniteness under 35 U.S.C. 112, second paragraph. For example, a claim which read: "A process for using monoclonal antibodies of claim 4 to isolate and purify human fibroblast interferon." was held to be indefinite because it merely recites a use without any active, positive steps delimiting how this use is actually practiced. Ex parte Erlich, 3 USPQ2d 1011 (Bd. Pat. App. & Inter. 1986).

In claim 12, it clearly states "a method for controlling..." without any positive steps.

As best understood, the claim 12 is believed to be a method. However, claims 14-18 claim conditional statements and Examiner does not know whether these are use claims or actual steps when these conditional statements are executed (i.e. determining a desired fuel pressure, an actual fuel pressure, or a variable).

Claims 14-18 and 20-23 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 112, second paragraph, as being indefinite for failing to particularly point out and distinctly claim the subject matter which applicant regards as the invention.

Also, claims 10 and 12 states values above a threshold and the conditional statements contain language such as "fuel pressure falls", "fuel flow rate falls" or "below" which is at odds with the specification. This nebulous language was also mentioned by the previous Examiner in the Office Action dated 6/27/2008.

As such, claims 14-18 and 20-23 were not examined on the merits.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 102

The following is a quotation of the appropriate paragraphs of 35 U.S.C. 102 that form the basis for the rejections under this section made in this Office action:

A person shall be entitled to a patent unless –

(b) the invention was patented or described in a printed publication in this or a foreign country or in public use or on sale in this country, more than one year prior to the date of application for patent in the United States.

Claims 10, 12, 13, 19 and 24 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(b) as being anticipated by Amann et al. (US Patent No. 5,345,916).

With regards to claims 10 and 12, the patent to Amann et al. discloses a method for controlling a fuel pressure in a fuel supply device of an internal combustion engine having a regulator valve, the method comprising the steps of: determining a desired fuel pressure value (i.e. predetermined classic injection profiles, See Col. 4, Lines 45-55); determining an actual fuel pressure value (i.e. the fuel pressure pulses, See Figure 6); determining a variable selected from the group consisting of: a variation in a fuel flow rate and a variation in the fuel pressure (Figure 6 shows pumping rate measured in mm³/degree and fuel pressure pulses) and if the variable is above a specified threshold value then determining an actuating signal as a function of the desired fuel pressure value and controlling said regulator valve with said actuating signal (See Col. 4, Lines 30-45)

With regards to claims 13 and 19, the patent to Amann et al. discloses wherein the regulator valve is an electromagnetic regulator and an energization of the electromagnetic regulator is influenced by the actuating signal (See Col. 4, Lines 30-40).

With regards to claim 24, the patent to Amann et al. discloses wherein the variation in a fuel flow rate is determined by determining a gradient of the fuel flow rate (i.e. variable rate measured in mm³/deg as shown in Figure 5B, See Col. 5, and Lines 15-30).

Conclusion

The prior art made of record and not relied upon is considered pertinent to applicant's disclosure. Yu (US Patent Publication 20030051709) shows the current state of the art.
